Subject: Student Computer Technician IV position

Dear Networkmaine,

I'm writing to apply for the Student Computer Technician IV position offer posted on the CareerLink Web site.

The skills requested in the job listing seem to align well with my skills and interests: while I have only had one Web development job, and none in systems administration, I have been studying these subjects for several years, and have long held an interest in GNU/Linux, Web development, and software user interface and user experience design.

I feel that I would be able to satisfy the demands of this position using my existing knowledge and experience and my interest in learning additional skills and technologies.

Please see the attached résumé for information on my specific technical abilities and a history of my work experience.

Thank you for considering me for this position.

Sincerely,

Elliot C. Wallace

Dear Prof. Curran,

I'm writing to express my gratitude to you for having allowed me to attend and participate in your Deep Ecology and Mythology class even after withdrawing from school.

Because the course was being offered as a unique, one-time Honors Tutorial, your willingness to accommodate my presence granted me the opportunity to experience and participate in the class. While I do realize that this letter is quite overdue, my lateness in conveying these sentiments to you has enabled me to reflect on the course and confirm that it has indeed had a lasting benefit for me: the work we did in class remains very relevant to my projects, interests, and writing. Thus, I am grateful not just for the opportunity to participate in the class, but also for the help it has given me in coming to a better understanding of my own project for developing an intentional community.

Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Elliot Chandler (Wallace)
